New for Spring: Lavender Rabbits

Friday 20th March marked the Spring equinox. This is a time when daylight hours are equal to night time hours. Some people like to think of the equinox as the first day of Spring.

So the 20th March seemed like the perfect day to launch our new range of Lavender Rabbits.

Each rabbit is made from recycled, vintage fabric.

Their ears are filled with chemical-free, French lavender.

They also have snowy white felt bobtails!

Every rabbit is unique.

You can either place them on your pillow or dressing table to help you float off to sleep. Or hang in your wardrobe to make your clothes smell nice, perfect when spring cleaning.

They also make a great eco-friendly Easter or Mother's Day gift (Mother's Day takes place on May 11 in the USA).

UK Handmade, Spring Issue

The latest issue of the UK Handmade magazine is available to view online now!

It's packed full of interesting stuff.

There's a tutorial for making a bunny egg cosy, a recipe for delicious Easter biscuits, interviews with designer-makers, crafty business advice, the UK Handmade team reminisce about their early crafting memories and much, much more...

Nicola from Pouch is involved with writing features for UK Handmade. You can read her interview with one of the founding members of the Self-Sufficientish website on page 82.

You can view the magazine at:

Pouch's website of the month

<http://www.recycle-more.co.uk>

This website is packed with great ideas to help you recycle more items. Many local authorities take a limited number of items in kerbside collections, so this site is useful for getting info about recycling more obscure items such as batteries, electrical equipment and even bras!

In these difficult economic times, recycling can help you save money, check out this link for some great ideas (not sure about re-using teabags, but all the others are very useful!)
